

When is Contract the Right Solution for Your Organization?

In today's world of economic expansion, fiscal restraint and stringent regulatory requirements, it comes as no surprise that companies turn more and more to contract accounting professionals as a viable solution to their fluctuating resource needs. Companies often hire a finance and accounting professional on contract for:

Project Management or Assistance, for example:

- International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS)
- CFO and CEO certification (Sarbanes-Oxley, MI 52-109)
- ERP implementations
- Acquisition Integration and Due Diligence

Peak Workload Surrounding Key Deadlines, for example:

- Budgeting and planning
- Monthly, quarterly and yearly financial, regulatory and management reporting
- Tax
- Internal audit

Maternity and extended personal leaves

Most companies do not have the option of juggling the duties of current personnel to meet these needs. A lack of subject matter expertise or capacity within the organization makes a contractor the most effective solution.
